To the Department of Environmental Quality,

Do not let more produced water into Boysen. I have recreated on it extensively since 1985. You need to look at the drought years when it was so low. It can't take more salts and pollution. The ground in Wyoming is salty, the water picks up that salt. The farmers below the dam as well as the species in the lake do not need more salts and other pollutants in the lake. Having worked for 25 years for Marathon Oil Company and Marathon Pipeline, I know first hand what companies do when no one is looking and they are in a bind. Water is very precious in Wyoming. Please do not allow this project!!!!

Thank you.
