

Robert Coleman

all this is being done for is to save money. Personally I am fed up with these companies that want to trash things out and not perform their work correctly. This is just terrible what the plan is. Water is actually more valuable than petroleum products now.