

Emily Parsons

I'm concerned that a private corporation will pass on the real costs of doing business to the citizens of Wyoming. What are the costs with untreated discharge water? I would like to see the DEQ's draft permit discuss the potential negative social and economic impacts from the increased discharge to downstream communities. There is not zero impact. I have drinking water concerns for thermopolis, and water that is used for crops may be polluted with salts. I urge you to follow chapter 1 of your policy and move forward with this cost analysis.
