

Dave Lipson

There is no way that dumping the waste material into Boysen will have any positive affect on the welfare of Wyoming. It will poison fish, wildlife, and, yes, even us! This would mean no more fishing, swimming, or even rafting through the Wind River Canyon. Downstream irrigation would be affected, potentially all the way to the Yellowstone and Missouri Rivers. Wyoming thrives on recreational activities and this would severely harm that industry. Certainly, there must be other alternatives.