

Don Crecelius

I spent 22 years working for the DEQ/LQD. I have a good understanding of the issues, economics, and political implications of projects like these.

The state should not be considering approval of this permit to allow such discharges into important waterways. Sometimes it becomes necessary for a state agency like the WQD to step up and do the right thing; deny this permit. Some areas of our state simply need to be off limits for energy development. Please do not approve this application.
