

Heather Irvine

Do not dump waste into public waterways. Companies that create waste must find safe ways to dispose of their byproducts and not be allowed to contaminate waters that the public use for recreation. Downstream these waters sustain wildlife and further on, human beings.