Weakening the regulations placed on Aethon so that they can add more pollutants to the watershed that feed into Boysen Reservoir, would be very disheartening, not to mention environmentally ill advised. If I lived in Thermopolis, I would be outraged. Having lived in Fremont County for 23 years, I understand the fragility of this arid region, and our rivers and creeks should be carefully protected. The Wind River/Bighorn River are a treasure in this state, and an asset that we can not replace. I adamantly advocate for strong protections for this watershed, showing that your agency is indeed about "environmental quality".
