

Kate Martin

This revised permit is a terrible decision by the WDEQ!!! Since the increase in discharge volumes are no longer being considered in the revised permit, the WDEQ shouldn't be able to add more regulations and restrictions to Aethon's existing permit. That's like changing the rules in the middle of the game. The current permit has been acceptable for many years, and should be allowed to continue. If this revised permit is allowed to go through it will set a terrible precedence for all of Wyoming's Oil and Gas industry. People's job's are at stake! Don't put Aethon out of business and force them to leave Wyoming."

It seems suspicious why the sudden reversal of opinion by your agency. It just seems like a political pressure move . I thought more of the DEQ. Especially since they are the representatives in charge of our lands well being and initially gave the ok .

Whats happening here.

Respectfully submitted