

Rhonda Coleman

To whom it may concern:

Wyoming's greatest asset is it's wildlife and clean environment. The extractive industries are dying in this state and yet the continued threat of increased pollution threatens to destroy our greatest asset. The citizens of the state deserve a clean environment. I am tired of companies asking us to pay for the destruction they leave behind. If those companies can't do it right they should not be in business.