

Ty Jones

The community of Fremont county and the state of Wyoming needs the moneata divide field to stay functional. Wild life and live stock are among those who depend on the day to day operations. I've lived in this community my entire life and also work in the oil field so I understand the importance of keeping the field going not only for my fellow neighbors but for the state itself. Denying the proposal would be horrible and would leave a horrible impact for everyone in the state and also effect other states.