

Tom Belus

I support the approval of this project. In these uncertain times the RAMACO project has and will create important economic benefits through jobs and and future growth opportunities that we continue to need in Wyoming. RAMACO has addressed through out the process that the environment will be protected. Their grants from the U.S. Department of Energy substantiate the viability and potential of the entire project.