

Ben Bryan

I strongly support the Brook Mine application. Wyoming has always been closely tied to energy as the main staple for revenue and especially now in this new global perspective it is smart to diversify the economy and to support different industries. I can't think of a more ingenious way to do it all in one move. Using the abundant resources Wyoming so proudly houses with high quality coal and developing it into amazing world impacting products. This is not only great for Sheridan and Wyoming but for the nation. Strategic deployment of affordable carbon fibers and materials that save lives in bioengineering and All the other amazing material and technological uses there are for coal. I strongly recommend its approval.