C&H Hog Farm has been put through the ringer over the last 5 years and have NO environmental violations. Out of 2243 agriculture applications C&H is the first and only permit to be denied. That to me is a problem. I shows that emotions have been allowed to rule in issuing a permit and that is very detrimental not only to agriculture, but business in Arkansas going through a permit process with ADEQ. We must allow the science to determine our decisions based on facts and in this case the science and the facts show that there is no basis to deny C&H Hog Farm their permit.
