

Brandi Smith

Let's keep the buffalo clean, so families can enjoy it, and so tourists continue to bring revenue to the area. A hog farm can be anywhere, but the first (and most amazing) national river cannot. We have a duty to protect our national parks and rivers from harmful and irresponsible industry. In the end, the river is more important and profitable (in tourism dollars) to the region.