

Jeff Connole

I am firmly against any confined farming operations inside the watershed of the Buffalo River. There are already lots of points of contamination up and down the river and a highly concentrated source of contamination is only going to compound a problem that is already there, evidenced by the large algae bloom of this past summer.