

Esther Heckmann

The Buffalo River is a place that provides beauty and refuge to so many people in our community. A place that brings people together. A place where I know I can go and have a peaceful time in the beautiful natural state with the people who mean the most to me in life. (In the state that means the most to me).