As someone who has followed this process for several years, it is amazing to me that we are even considering denying this permit. Without boring you with all the data that is available, there has yet to be one valid claim that this farm has committed any measurable amount of pollution. The design of ADEQ should be to simply make sure that the environment be protected based on actual data, not to pick winners and losers based on public opinion. I personally will feel like ADEQ is actually trying to protect the Buffalo River when it starts studying the impact of tourism on the river. I support issuing C&H a reg 5 permit.
