

John James

The protected status and existence of endangered Native Wolves and other iconic Animals took decades of professional, scientific, legislative and bipartisan effort to achieve a reasonable state of life in what little remains of the wild and natural environment in the U.S and beyond. Helping these Animals to exist in a balanced healthy state in their natural world is not only critically important for them, it is also critically important for future generations to be able to experience and enjoy the powerful world in which these iconic Lives live. It is reckless policy to destroy and reverse the progress that has been made in recent decades. I urge our representatives and elected officials to support the positive accomplishments of the recent past and not support the more recent destructive policy reversals occurring today.

From a voting independent

John James