

Wolf Post-Recovery Plan Scoping

Please give us your comments!

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife is inviting the public to comment on the scope of a post-recovery plan for wolves in Washington. Scoping helps us identify reasonable actions, alternatives, and impacts to be discussed in the plan. Scoping improves decisions and encourages collaboration, cooperation, and early resolution of potential conflicts. It is intended to narrow the focus of the plan to the relevant issues. The public scoping comment period for this process is open from August 1, 2019 through November 1, 2019.

Comments can also be provided electronically at wdfw.wa.gov/wolves-post-recovery-comments

Comments on the scope of the post-recovery wolf conservation and management plan:

purpose - the plan is flawed as it is far from a conservation plan and proven facts about good management of time/resources.
check the Capital Press a couple months ago about an article on the opinion page that had 4 points of proven facts about the whole wolf plan about recovery that could not be justified.
wolves have not fed one person a meal ~~but~~ get complete dates from farmers, ranchers, + farmers. the wolves have devastated the deer and elk herds + now they are moving ^{on} the cattle for food + many farmers + ranchers are forced out of business, only a blinded man cannot see how damaging to the economy of citizens of the state of Washington so may we work to improved + protect our neighbors property + living.
