We are a Washington family who believes in the importance of protecting nature & the wildlife who call it home. The state's wolf recovery plan must allow these beautiful & intelligent animals to live freely so their population has a chance for true recovery. Only humane nonlethal conflict resolution should ever be used if there is any issue with livestock. The wolves habitat must be protected by remaining free of pollution, exploration & disruption by any industry interests, The wolves have an important role in the healthy balance of nature & the public has a right to be educated about the ecological importance of wolves. Thank you for your time & consideration!
