We need true and sound management of wolves once they are delisted since they reproduce so quickly. Hunting will allow us to manage wolves just like we do for any other big game in WA. We should try just hunting for the first 2 years with seasons identical to ID. Then after 2 years, see what the surveys are like and see if Trapping is needed also. Don't try and reinvent the wheel, Idaho is doing a fine job trying to manage wolves. There will be a huge revenue boost in the sales of wolf tags. Be sure that money goes to the wolf management. As we all know, wolves are difficult to hunt and shoot so don't put a quota on the amount of tags. The population will keep growing regardless, just ask ID and MT wolf Managers.
