

Marybeth Diss

Please protect wolves in Washington and throughout the United States. Wolves have lived on this continent longer than humans, yet humans have taken nearly all of the land for their own use. Instead of killing wolves, why don't we give them the land to live as they should. They are only trying to survive. Why should they be punished because humans have taken nearly all habitat away? We created this mess, and it is our chance to make it right by protecting wolves and giving wolves the habitat they need to survive. Thank you for considering my comments.