

William Ellison

Ive been trying to get the wdfw to listen to my ideas on wolves and bears for a couple years now and have been outright ignored. Areas with wolf numbers at or above recovery numbers should have a certain amount of draw tags opened up for people to try to purchase. The season for those tags should be longer due to how hard it actually is to hunt wolves. This would bring more money in from both the draw permits purchased and from the tags purchased once drawn. I am also going to make a statement here about bear hunting. Baiting for bears and mt lions should be reinstated. Charge $50-$100 for a baiting permit, allow 1 permit per person, 2 bait sites per permit (have to be properly marked with permit info), and bait sites must be x amount of yards apart. This setup would bring in a TON of revenue!