

Elyse Dudley

It is disgusting that killing a species of animal we bred our pet dogs from just because of some cattle is even a consideration. These are amazing creatures and part of the ecosystem for a reason. We cannot play god like this for financial gain. You want something to be done about protecting your cattle, then build better fence support systems and move the Wolfpack to a location further away like you did with the mountain goats. These creatures must be saved!