

Eric Burr

I agree with Dr. Gordon Haber and Carter Niemyer, that more attention needs to be paid to selecting which problem Wolves might be eliminated, to avoid only making a bad situation worse. The social structure of Wolf packs is key to their successful management. Having worked with Dr. Haber and others in Denali, as a back country ranger, I've concluded that the kind of long term knowledge and experience available from technicians such as Carter is essential.