

Valerie Browning

Wolves are native wild creatures. They do not provide food for humans and do very little damage to livestock. Hunting them is counter to the balance of nature. Therefore, they should not be hunted.