WDFW has identified a list of impact topics to include in the Plan/EIS. Impact topics are a means of organizing the discussion of issues and analysis of impacts. Impact topics can be thought of as chapter or section headings in the Plan/EIS.

Please review this list and add other topics, or items that fit under these headings.

Please check the topics you view as most important.

Wolf conservation and monitoring

Wolf classification/status

Wolf-livestock conflicts

Wolf-human interactions

Wolf hunting

Land management

Information and education

Research

Reporting and evaluation

Please list other topics here. The next page provides space for general comments on the scope of the plan.

"ENTITLED" RANCHERS misusing my public land

Do you have general comments about the scope of Washington's updated wolf conservation and management plan?

The fact that you want to list wolves as GAME MAMMALS is RIDICULOUS and you know it !!! You are just looking for more E X C U S E S to kill wolves. They are apex predators--- and you know this as well. !!'Game' animals are th. e hunted, not the hunters . Additionally, The post recovery is premature considering there are no wolves in one of the zones, and by your own shitty standards you have drafted in your current plan, there must be breeding pairs in EACH ZONE.

What in the hell is it going to take to get you guys to follow the proper science and evidence that is available??? And why do you keep putting Wolf Haters on the WAG board. YOUR OWN WORDS , SUSEWIND... something to the effect of 'Hoping we can draw from all kinds of perspectives, groups, to work towards a diverse population that can coexist . WHAT A HIPPOCRITE YOU ARE !!

CALL OF THE WILD

ORGANIZE TO SAVE AMERICA'S WOLVES

How to Plan a "Wild for Wolves Rendezvous"

*Thank you for stepping up to protect wolves on March 5th for our Wild for Wolves Day!
Here is everything you need to know to plan your event.*

What is a "Wild for Wolves Rendezvous"?:

As many wolf lovers know, when pups are old enough to leave the den but still too young to hunt, their families move the pups to new meet-up locations that scientists call "rendezvous sites". "Rendezvous" is French for "we all gather together at a specific time and place." While the pack goes out hunting, one adult member will be assigned to stay with the pups. These wolves are affectionately known as "babysitter wolves" and they care for the pups until the rest of the pack returns to reunite with them. This is just one example of how wolves take care of each other in community and why we're using the same name for our Wild for Wolves Day gatherings.

The goal of our "W4WR" is to build community and strengthen connections between wolf lovers across the country so that people are organized for the political battles to come. Wolves have shown us that we are stronger when we act together in community and "W4WR" is the first step in doing that by developing in-person connections.

By hosting/attending a "W4WR" event, you will:

- Connect with others locally who love wolves;
- Discuss the current threat to wolves & what we can do;
- Write/Collect comment cards to oppose the delisting of wolves;
- Get inspired and plan next steps for the fight ahead. Maybe even arrange a regular meet up time with your group!

Before:

- Pick a location & time:

- Location: You can host at your home or just meet up at brewery/bar, café, or other social place and put it on the Ignite Change map.
- Time: Pick a time (probably between 5pm and 7pm) on Tuesday, March 5. Happy hour meet-ups tend to work great
- - just keep dinner time in mind and make sure to keep the event to about an hour. If you can't do March 5, don't worry! Pick a time and place anytime that week (March 5 - 10) that works for you.

- Put your event on the Ignite Change Map!

- Once you have the details of where & when your event will take place, fill out this quick form and put your meeting on our national map. Here is a sample description you can use:
 - Join us for a Wild for Wolves Rendezvous in [Location] on March 5 at [date, time] to connect other people who love wolves, learn about the current threat from the Trump administration, write comments, and plan next steps. Looking forward to meeting you!
- Please try to get your event on the map asap so we can invite Ignite Change members near you!

● Gather and print your materials

- Materials to print include:
 - 100 blank comment letters;
 - 25 fact sheets;
 - 1 copy of this campaign backgrounder;
 - Sample event script and outreach script;
- Additional materials are included in host packets (for hosts who added to map on or before Feb 20):
 - 10 Call of the Wild buttons (color and B&W)
 - 3 donation remit envelopes to return to Center if someone wants to donate
 - 9" x 12" envelopes to send comments back to us
 - Optional Spanish materials for your use

During:

● Welcome

- Greet everyone who shows up personally - make sure they feel warmly welcomed and appreciated for showing up :)

● Introductions & Sharing Why You Love Wolves

- Share what you love about wolves and ask everyone to introduce themselves (name, where they live) and one thing they love about wolves or why they want to protect them.

● Issue Rundown: The threat to America's wolves and what we can do to help

- Tell the group why wolves need us to take action right now. You'll want to keep it short and simple - We'll provide an event template script and add it here soon.

● Have everyone fill out their own comment letter to the Trump administration

- Make sure you bring enough pens for everyone and get a photo of all the filled cards so you can tag Trump and USFWS on social media and let him know your group's messages are on their way along with messages from thousands of your fellow Ignite Change wolf activists.
- Please be sure to ask everyone to hand-write in a personalized sentence or two of their own on the comment letter (e.g., a sentence about why wolves are important to protect, or a sentence expressing concern that if wolves don't have federal protections states could allow them to be shot and trapped).
- Ask others in the bar, café, or meet up space to fill one out too!

● Plan Next Steps Together

- Let folks know that to win, we need to build a ton of momentum to stop this attack on wolves. Ask if anyone is interested in helping gather more comments in your community & brainstorm locations and times you can educate and gather comments together. See our Wolf Outreach Guide: How to Gather Comments for more ideas.

- Cheers to wolves!

- Take a moment to celebrate wolves and toast to protecting this iconic species together. Make sure to take a photo or video of your group to show our People Power!

After:

- Share your photos

- Share your photos on social media - Post the photo on your social media platforms with #SavetheWolves and #CalloftheWild and tag the Center!
- Email the pictures to us at ignite@biologicaldiversity.org so we can share too!

- Mail us your comment letters

- Using the return envelopes we've provided, mail the comment letters back to us at:
