

Ellen Kroninger

What is your gender?

Female

Age?

64

County (or Counties) of Primary Residence?

United States

Residential setting:

Rural

Do you identify yourself as any of the following?

Outdoor Recreationist

WDFW has identified a list of impact topics to include in the Plan/EIS. Impact topics are a means of organizing the discussion of issues and analysis of impacts. Impact topics can be thought of as chapter or section headings in the Plan/EIS.

Please review this list and add other topics, or items that fit under these headings.

Please check the topics you view as most important.

Wolf conservation and monitoring

Wolf hunting

Information and education

Research

Do you have general comments about the scope of Washington's updated wolf conservation and management plan?

Please stop cherry picking science, use all the information available. Science has shown over and over again, Yellowstone National Park is a good example, of how wolves keep our ecosystems healthy. They allow the prey and predator relationship stay balanced. When there is a natural balance, the interactions with domestic species become almost nonexistent. There is no reason for man to control or manage wild predators, Mother Nature has been doing a great job.