

Dillon Shuler

What is your gender?

Male

Age?

27

County (or Counties) of Primary Residence?

Pierce county

Residential setting:

Suburban

Do you identify yourself as any of the following?

Environmentalist

Hunter

Outdoor Recreationist

WDFW has identified a list of impact topics to include in the Plan/EIS. Impact topics are a means of organizing the discussion of issues and analysis of impacts. Impact topics can be thought of as chapter or section headings in the Plan/EIS.

Please review this list and add other topics, or items that fit under these headings.

Please check the topics you view as most important.

Wolf classification/status

Wolf-livestock conflicts

Wolf-ungulate interactions

Wolf interactions with other species

Wolf hunting

Translocation

Land management

Habitat connectivity

Research

Reporting and evaluation

Goals objectives strategies and tasks

Costs and funding priorities

Do you have general comments about the scope of Washington's updated wolf conservation and management plan?

I personally feel we need to step back and think about why we got rid of wolves in the first place. Then ask your selves if you think its a smart idea to want wolves on all 4 corners of our beautiful state with already dwindling deer and elk populations. I'm not opposed to wolves in general I just dont agree with the way we are going about the management. We tax payers pay people to kill problem packs. In other areas they allow depredation permits and sell tags to generate money for their respective programs. While here we go off of basic tax payer funds and other political means. Keep the wolves in areas they can thrive in manageable numbers. Look at Montana. Hunters are allowed 5 tags and they still have wolf issues....