Do you have general comments about the scope of Washington's updated wolf conservation and management plan?

I think Washington states management of our land and animals has steadily gone downhill, to the point its difficult to want to recreate here at all. With all the issues we face, our predator problem (wdfw needs to admit, we DO in fact have a problem) is one we could actually help mitigate. We can't allow the people who control the vote in our state (king county) to be the ones who get to choose to let predators, including wolves run completely rampant, because they think they're pretty. They absolutely without a doubt need to be managed, no different than anything else.
