Do you have general comments about the scope of Washington's updated wolf conservation and management plan?

I would like to hear more, about what your doing to encourage community support. Money's spent and how it's used. In the comments and infomercials {webinars) you seem to say community support is key. I agree. But it also implies they think they have a choice. It's public land. No one groop gets to say how it's used. I also would like to know the state of investigation into the threats of violence (?) surrounding the public meetings on this subject. I feel you folks are trying to provide info, that's a good thing. But I also think it's incumbent on you to keep us up to speed on the investigation. It's got to be easier for you to pick and choose the questions you want to answer. Fair enough. I'd pick the easy way out if I could. No WDFW person should have to be afraid to go to work. But I want to know who's stepping on my free speach. And what's being done about it.
