Costs and funding priorities

Do you have general comments about the scope of Washington's updated wolf conservation and management plan?

If federal funds are not available the use of hunting funds is incorrect way to manage this population. Any funds should come as a direct result of cities as the wolf population is in rural locations. Protection for wolves over other self sufficient wildlife and farm raising practices should not be funded.

The wolf population should be managed to minimize the loss of wildlife. Hunting practices should be used as a way to keep wolf populations in check.

The governor should not involve himself in any way to provide protections for the wolf at the expense of those who are most likely affected.
