Do you have general comments about the scope of Washington's updated wolf conservation and management plan?

I believe there are way more wolves then what is being said. I grew up in Northport. I have hunted on every mountain in that country. The wolves are destroying the elk population that was already very little I found 2 wolf kills this muzzle loader season where they they were just joy killing. One of the kills was up current creek and the othe was up on harrier creek. The moose population is also being destroyed in those same areas. There are wolf tracks on every single mountain you are on. This is concerning. It will never be the same in that country. I think your counts are way off and who ever is doing these counts are way off. The population up there needs to be put to a halt. They need to take wolves from that area to the west side They are the ones that decide all this I want them to have to to deal with it. I am speaking for all of northern Stevens county
