

Paul Zimmerman

I wish to register my strong opinion that there be absolutely no weakening of regulations regarding protections from oil spills.

If there are changes to be made, it is my belief that oil businesses and operators should be more closely regulated and oil spill prevention regulations should be made more stringent and monitoring should be increased.