

Heather Durtschi

"You race the way you train." This is a motto I embrace as an athlete, teacher, fisherman, and oil spill responder. SERVS has a well trained fleet of people and resources on "race mode", ready to respond in 0-6 hours to an oil spill. This has occurred over 30 years of practice, i.e., annual training and drills. This state of readiness needs to be maintained to ensure that our waters remain oil free. Let's keep training to stay "race ready."