

Pat Race

I don't see any mention of a maintenance plan or plan for remediation & removal in the event the permitted entity chooses to stop operating the plant or ceases to exist. I think it would be very wise to include a remediation & removal plan because sooner or later every project reaches its end of life. Further, there should be a clear understanding of how and where any spent or wasted material will be disposed.