

Garrett Piehl

While I have not been directly involved in the production of nuclear energy, I have been a huge supporter of nuclear energy as it has been shown to be a safe and environmentally sound means of producing energy. The initial test bed location at a military installation makes sense that it has extra security and access to emergency services and transportation, if they should become necessary. Fully support the state/federal governments allowing this project to proceed with appropriate regulation and oversight.