In April 2022 I was driving the Richardson highway when I came upon a DOT project dumping rock to keep the Tanana River from taking the highway. The rock was being hauled from the foothills of the Alaska range. As soon as I entered the highway section being used to transport rock my windshield was being hit with grit coming off the trucks.

I was working in the drinking water program for DEC when it was discovered that the 56 mile haul road from the Red Dog Mine to the port was contaminated by material coming off the trucks.

ADEC needs to address the contamination of the road corridor from the mine site to the Ft. Knox mill. The State of Alaska cannot allow the corridor to become an hazardous waste zone impacting our health.
