To whomever may have the power to stop the use of our public roads for ore hauling:

I am VERY opposed to the invasion of an "outside" entity using our fragile permafrost ridden roads, going through our main thoroughfares in our cities and towns, to enhance their wealth at our loss.

My concerns include physical safety and environmental health, along with mental anguish of driving through our towns and highways, with the proposed ore trucks.

Since these roads are fragile and very expensive to repair, this is also a money loser for the state and a loss to all of us using the roads.

Short version: there is NO LOGICAL benefits to our communities and state as a whole.
