

Jessica Tritsch

Thank you for your work addressing the real environmental issue of solid waste. It is critical to focus on reducing solid waste. Increasing composting, recycling, and reuse opportunities are needed. The plan not only needs to incorporate these solutions but also develop stronger goals (at least 50% by 2030 and 75% by 2042) and strategies for reducing overall waste. Also a larger focus on electronics recycling.

We also must phase out incineration as a trash solution. It is a huge health and environmental justice burden in communities near incinerators. We need to reduce waste, not burn it.