I would very much like to see grocery stores use only COMPOSTABLE containers, instead of plastic, when they sell ready-made foods; as in their deli or cold cases. I ALWAYS feel bad when I buy favorite salads at Lund's deli and other groceries, and receive it in a plastic container. I do recycle those plastic containers but I think it would be better for the environment to have the containers be COMPOSTABLE. Also, the health laws should allow me to bring my own containers from home to use for carryout.
