I was made aware of this comment period as a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Minneapolis. I am concerned that the HERC facility is going to have a longer run than necessary ♦ its emissions continuing to affect the surrounding communities adversely. The percentage waste reduction goal of 5% by 2042 seems strangely low: why not speed up that effort so we can take the HERC facility offline sooner? In reading the plan, it seems there is inertia in achieving an environmentally-sound solution; given air quality issues this summer overall, it is in the region's best interest to work more rapidly toward a cleaner waste handling/reduction effort.
