I respectfully urge you to enforce the wild rice sulfate standard. There are numerous reasons why enforcing the wild rice sulfate standard is needed and one basic one is that degradation of water quality in the lakes, streams and wetlands of Minnesota is prohibited. Since degradation is prohibited, MPCA must not allow polluting industries to degrade high quality, low-sulfate wild rice waters. It seems that it's now or never for our planet's dwindling intact natural resources. It's up to us to protect what can still be protected while we still can. Thank you for listening and for doing what's right and necessary!
