

Mark Senger

Wild Rice is very important to Minnesota's economy, as well as a valued food for those of us who love it. The mines should respect that; and install the necessary equipment to stop/reduce the sulfates from polluting our waters...ALL of the waters, not just the waters that have wild rice.