

Angela Anderson

MPCA currently fails to enforce sulfate standards for wild rice and has failed to protect the waters of wild rice for 50 years. The Minnesota Pollution Control agency is supposed to protect the public from environmental pollution not to dismiss it