

Laura Schauland

Water is our most precious resource and MPCA is supposed to be the agency that protects our environment from man made disasters and pollution. It seems that the agency does not focus on preventing pollution but actually promotes pollution.