

Brooke Scouton

This is absolutely so sad to see. MN the land of 10,000 lakes none of which are now safe to swim in. How is this okay! Growing up in a small community in southern mn going to the lake was apart of our every weekend whether it be to swim, boating, fishing. Half my life i spent in the lake and as a kid i remember it being gross with seaweed but not to the extent where you have to worry about brain eating amoebas or so much shit in the lake that it stinks to even be around it.. something needs to be done we let minneapolis burn and are rebuilding why cant we fix the problem in our lakes!! Use some of the tax money for something good! We have some of the highest taxes and we dont get crap for it. Lets put some money back into our lakes and preserve the minnesota people hear about.