What are the consequences for the polluters? The problem is getting worse. What should these polluters be doing to prevent these problems and fix what's out there? Is there no or inadequate oversight? Printing this list is a good first step, but what actually happens as a result? Polluting wild rice areas is especially egregious. It's the same as if these companies were dumping pollution on white farmers fields. Seems like wild rice pollution is discriminatory and a complaint should be filed with the state.
