

Jesse Bearheart

i care deeply about the health of waters containing wild rice as well as the waterways that support biodiversity in the area where i live. i have noticed in recent years an abundance of water shield, large white waterlilies, and pickerel weed that chokes out wild rice. As a result, i have seen a reduction in fish, reptiles, water birds and migratory fowl. Do something about this! My relatives and i depend upon all that is natural on this fragile planet.