

Sheila Dillon

It's about time consumers were protected as we have wrongly assumed that our drinking water was safe and not make us or our families sick. I am so tired of worrying about all of the waste products discharged into our waterways, only to end up in our food and our bodies. Nobody can say with certainty that these wastes are not causing a variety of health problems we now see. All of this because of corporate profits, of greed and uncaring businesses.